nature. These are part of the reasons why Christians should be concerned about poverty. Man is made in the image of God; but can a poor man reflect the image of God adequately? Poverty inhibits freedom. Freedom is part of the image man shares with God. Poverty therefore affects God's image and plan in man.

A Biblical Approach and Response to Poverty

The gospel is good news for everyone—rich and poor alike. And this good news should transform the way we all, rich and poor and in the middle, use money. We need rich Christians as part of the gospel witness that knowing Jesus transforms every aspect of who we are, for our good and for the good of our neighbor too.
